

Professor Christopher P Conlon MA MD FRCP FRCPI

Professor Conlon is a Consultant Physician in Infectious Diseases and General Medicine in Oxford at the Oxford University Hospitals NHS Foundation Trust. He is also a Professor of Infectious Diseases at Oxford University. He trained in Oxford, London and Birmingham and spent 3 years working in sub-Saharan Africa, conducting HIV research as part of his doctoral work. In addition to his NHS inpatient and outpatient work, he also ran a travel clinic for University of Oxford employees for over 20 years. Prof Conlon is a past Chairman of the Joint Colleges Committee on Infection and Tropical Medicine for the Royal College of Physicians, past Secretary of the British Infection Society and a former member of the National Travel Health Network and Centre Advisory Group. He was a member of the Expert Advisory Group on AIDS for the Department of Health for 5 years. In Oxford, Prof Conlon chaired the On-Take Physicians Group for 3 years, was clinical lead for Infectious Diseases for 10 years and Chairman of the Medical Staff Council for 2 years. He is one of the three senior editors for the 6th edition of the Oxford Textbook of Medicine. He is the author of more than 70 peer reviewed papers and numerous book chapters.

Areas of Clinical Interest:

HIV infection: clinic and inpatient care; approximately 350 infected outpatients

Tuberculosis: clinical lead for TB; weekly clinic plus public health meetings

Outpatient intravenous antibiotics: established first UK program to deliver IV antimicrobials in the patients' homes or local clinics (more than 3000 pts treated)

Tropical medicine: inpatient and outpatient care of returning travelers

Areas of Research Interest:

HIV: clinical trials, assessment of HIV vaccines

TB: clinical trials, use of whole genome sequencing in clinical care

Current roles:

National Chair, Joint Specialty Committee for Infection, Royal College of Physicians, London

Member: UK Advisory Panel for Healthcare Workers with Bloodborne Viruses

Member: Travel subcommittee, Joint Committee on Vaccines and Immunisations

External Examiner in Medicine: Kings College, London

Oxford Head, Nuffield Department of Medicine

Fellow in Clinical Medicine, Oriel College, Oxford

Principal Examiner in Medicine, University of Oxford

Clinical lead for Tuberculosis
Member, Hospital Clinical Effectiveness Committee